

About copyright.

The photos and data are property of their authors and have been authorised sometime for publication on N.M.G.

If for any reason you decide that your photos or data should not remain on the site, please let us know here and they will be removed.

If on the contrary you want to add some material that you consider interesting click here. Thank you for your collaboration in making the fascinating and sparse Nothobranchius world known.

All photos (c) F.Casado are free for distribution as long as they are not for financial gain and the author is mentioned.